

Switch millions of people on

Corporate Responsibility Director

Saving energy. Reducing carbon emissions. Cutting waste. The light's going on for our 33,000 employees as we set about changing the social, ethical and environmental performance of the hospitality industry. The message is also spreading to our 9 million customers across 1,800 outlets. It's all thanks to 'Good Together', the new high profile sustainability initiative that's leading Whitbread's best practice response to climate change and other priorities. Setting significant achievement and behavioural change targets across seven areas of focus - from sourcing and standards to health and community - we've already opened the UK's first carbon neutral budget hotel in our drive to cut carbon emissions by 26% by 2020. Yet this is just part of the far more wide-ranging 'Good Together' strategy that you'll direct. Expect to have a profound effect on our environment, our people, our community and your career as you switch us on to change. To find out more please email cr.director@whitbread.com
